THE SUICIDE IDENTIFIED.

SOLVING THE GRAND UNION MYSTERY.

THE YOUNG WOMAN HATTIE B. BEDIENT, OF HORNBY RECOGNIZED BY HER FATHER.

The Morgue was again visited yesterday by hundreds of people who went prompted by curiosity to get a look at the features of the dead woman, who shot herself through the heart at the Grand Union Hotel on Friday. Every one had some well-concected excuse or story of a missing friend, but Keeper White was better prepared for the rush of the public than on the previous days. All who came had to centent themselves with a view of a photograph of the girl unless they were particularly urgent in their demand to see her. Three offers were received to pay for the expense of a decent burial. A lady who said that she was Mrs. Colonel B. Judge, of the St. Cloud Hotel, asked to be permitted to defray, the funeral expenses. Manager Garrison, of the Grand Union Hotel, offered to pay the fineral expenses should the dead woman be uried, as Miss Eleanor Fletcher desired, in the latter's plot in Greenwood. Early in the day a cab was driven to the Morgue and a lady left some white roses and heliotropes to be placed on the body as it lay in the ice-box. The flowers were twined by Mr. White and "Joe" Fogarty, his assistant, out the dead face, which looked fresh and blooming as if in life. At noon a telegram signed Willis Williams was re ceived at the Morgue from Corning. It requested that the body be held to await further tidings from Mr. Willlams, as it was thought to be the body of Hattie B. Bedient, who disappeared from her home near Corning on Wednesday and could not be found.

Coroner Messemer received a letter during the day from Danbury, Conn., signed "S. S. W." It read as

A family by the name of Bedient reside in Danbury, Conn., and have been residents there for thirty years to my knowledge. One daughter was reported to have "gone wrong" some years ago. It is possible that an inquiry of Danbury officials might throw some light on the question of who the Grana Union young woman was.

of Windsor, Coun., asking for a photograph of the dead voman and saying that the printed description tallied with that of a friend of his, who was "strangely miss-

Shortly after dark a well-dressed man, who said that he was Ellis A. Campbell, of Plainfield, called and asked permission to see the body. When it was shown him he studied the features a long time and then ejaculated: "Yes, that's Susan,-Susan Steers. She was a servant in my family a long time and 1 know her well. She married a machinist here in New-York and when she found out that he had been already married she came back to her home, where her father and mother abused her. She left on Wednesday and has not been seen since, but a letter from her to her mother stated that she was going to kill herself. Yes. That's Susan Steers." ≥Mr. Campbell then went away, promising to return today and bring Susan's two sisters to identify the body.

There was a stir among the officials about the gloomy old hespital when a few minutes before midnight a plainly dressed, honest-looking farmer, about sixty, with a heavy iron-gray mustache, walked into the office and said that his name was Bedient and that he wanted to see the body in the Morgue. It required only a single look at the features of Mr. Bedient for those who had seen the body to recognize the relationship. The crowd of reporters and hospital orderlies fell back respectfully as the old farmer addesk. He did not to the anything, and Captain Donavan, who was in charge of the office, asked him kindly if he was a relative of the

"Yes." he said. "I believe that I am her father.

"Would you know her picture !"

The captain pulled from his pocket the photograph and gave it to Mr. Bedient. It was face downward and he quivered with anxiety as he took it and turned the face up to the light. A single glance showed him that the face was that of his daughter and he broke into sobs, uttering only the single word "Hattle," while he pressed the picture to his face. He would not look at it a second time. Accompanying Mr. Bedient was Henry H. Pratt, of

The Corning Journal. He touched the old man on the arm after a little while and said:

"Will you go to the Morgue !" Mr. Bedient simply responded "Yes," and moved me chanically in the direction of the Morgue. The and the quantity of ice lying around made the atmosphere chilly. When a light was struck Captain Donavan led Mr. Bedient up to where his daughter lay with her face surrounded by the fresh flowers and the white muslin trimmings of the ssleep instead of in death. The grief-stricken father walked up to the body and, bending down, pressed his lips to the cold lips of his dead child and sobbed and ned between his sobs:

'O, Hattie! my poor Hattie! Who would have thought that you would have ever come to this !"

The group that witnessed the distressing scene involuntarily fell back and left the father with his child. "Oh, God! Oh. God!" he sobbed. "What will your poor mother do when she hears of this! Surely there must be a God and you must be with him."

He tried in a groping way to put his poor old arms around the coffin. It was a long time before he with drew his lips from those of the dead girl, and when at last he did so tears were running down his cheeks. He stood before the body a few minutes looking at it; then turning to Captain Donavan he said in a pitiful, pleading voice: May I stay in here with her to-night?"

told that it raies. He pleaded again for the privilege, but Mr. Pratt persuaded him to go away and wait until this morning. In the office of the hospital, in reply to a few questions, Mr. Bedient said that his daughname was Hattle Berthme Bedient what he attributed her suicide he said: "To over study, which had unsaked Mr. Bedient if Hattle had ever attempted suicide and that he had said " No."

"He refused to believe that Hattie was anything but a virtuous girl," said Mr. Pratt. "He will accept no other theory than that of overwork. The poor old man was at work plowing in the field this morning when Williams, who is a second consin of Hattie's, rode out to m and gave him a copy of a paper with the news and

A PREVIOUS ATTEMPT TO END HER LIFE. RECEIVING ATTENTIONS FROM A MARRIED MAN-HER MOTHER PROSTRATED WITH GRIEF.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] CORNING, N. Y., May 25 .- Hattie B. Bedient was the daughter of Gideon A. Bedient, a wealthy farmer of Hornby, six miles from here. The young woman for a student, reserved and modest even to skyness in deor. Two years ago she went to Professor Kilue's

Preparatory School in Dundee, Yates County.

She maintained a spotless reputation until last fall, when the attentions which she received from a married man, Mr. Florence, a business man of Dundee, caused ament. She was cautioned to avoid this intimacy out gave as an excuse that Florence was a relative of here by marriage. Shortly after the warning she took a dose of laudanum. Her life was saved by medical aid. The next day she obtained more laudanum and took it, but fatal effects were again averted. Her parents were probably not informed of the matter, which was kept quiet. She professed sincere penitence and fully regained the confidence of her teachers. A few weeks ago it was ascertained that Florence met her estinely. Through one of the lady teachers, the young woman was again warned of her danger.

On Tuesday she was absent from school. On Wedreturn in the evening, Professor Kline was informed of disappearance. Inquiring at the depot of the Syra-c, Geneva and Corning Railroad, he learned that she had bought a ticket for Corning and had taken a south bound train on Wednesday forencon. As she was to be graduated in June,it was thought that she had gone home her parents to prepare dresses for co which was pronounced satisfactory. Considerable fault which was pronounced satisfactory. Considerable fault is found with the company charging 6 cents fare as the

Reaching Lyons, she went to a hotel and engaged a room, asking that she be not disturbed. When her supper was taken to her room she was found sitting on the bed in dejected attitude, seemingly in great mental trouble. She afterward went on the street, and was directed to a hardware store, where she bought a "Fashion" rovolver. She also went to a book store and bought a paper-covered novel. She took the Atlantic Express for New-York, and from that time nothing is identity, were put together to-day, a messenger was sent to the girl's home. The parents had heard nothing of the girl or of the New-York tragedy. The mother was prostrated, and it is feared her mind will not bear the strain. They never knew of their daughter's trouble at school, though when she attempted suicide last fall she wrote them letters directing what should be done with her body. These letters were found and are now in the possession of Principal Kline.

The young woman was formerly of pious tendency, and once determined to be a missionary. Lately she relinquished that idea and was preparing to be a teacher. She was naturally of a cheerful disposition. Two weeks ago she visited friends in Corning and spoke of her approaching graduation with apparent pleasure. In school she was a fair student. She shrank from society. She was determined in her character and was always considered sane and healthy. Her father came at once day for New-York.

MISS BEDIENT'S STRANGE CONDUCT IN LYONS. Lyons, N. Y., May 25 (Special).-It is thought certain that the handsome young woman who on Wednesdaywas in this village is the one who committed suicide at the Grand Union Hotel on the next day. An unusually large number of persons saw her here, and description of the person in New-York, and state that it is exactly that of the young woman seen here. Charles Powell, clerk at the hotel where she was a guest, says he believes she came to Lyons to take her life, but could not summon up courage for the act. She appeared to be absent minded. Once or twice when Powell entered her room, she was either weeping or staring vacantly at a mirror on the wall. He is positive that she came from Corning and that her acquaintances are there. The conductor of the train on which she rode to Lyons says that he is of the same opinion, although a telegraph message from Corning to-night says that nothing of the Bedient family is known there. here. DR. BUCK, OF OAKLAND, CAL., SHOT FOR REPORTED UNPROFESSIONAL CONDUCT. SAN FRANCISCO, May 25 .- Dr. N. L. Buck, of Oakland, was shot dead at his door last night by Henry F. Prindle, a member of Joe Hooker Post, Grand Army of the Republic. Prindle was arrested. At the police station he said that he shot Buck because his wife told him Buck had taken improper liberties with her while she was under his professional care. Dr. Wythe, a friend of the murdered physician, says he attended Mrs. Prindle for a time and believed her to be insame. He thinks she labors under the hallucination that Dr. Buck was guilty of unprofessional conduct. Mrs. Prindle's female friends of unprofessional conduct. Mrs. Finding strains triends assert, on the contrary, that Buck was guilty of everything charged against him. Dr. Buck was a native of Vermont. He practised in Springfield, Mass., for several years before coming to the Pavific coast. He was a widower and leaves a grown-up family.

ACCOUNTS ITEMIZED WITH THE PISTOL. CLOTHING STRIPPED FROM DEAD MEN AND SOLD TO THEIR COMPANIONS VICE-BURG, May 25 .- John Early, an intelli-

young Mississippian, returned a few since from Guatemala, where he had been induced to go last fall. "I left Vicksburg in September to go to Puerto Barries, to werk on the Puerto Barrios and Guatemala City Rall-road. In company with 160 others I signed a contract to work at $2 a day. We were to pay $9 transportation out of our first pay and $2 50 a week for board upon our arrival at the work. We sailed on the steamer Ella

"When we landed we were put ashore in the night, in the rain, and had no shelter. In the rain the next day we put up poles on forks and covered them with men-acca leaves, and those constituted our tents. It continued to rain for about two months. It would rain for an hour and then the sun would come out hot. We were not allowed to stop for the rain, but kept on in the mud and slush. I was soon taken with fever, which would lay me up for one day and leave me weak the next. When the fever was on me I could not eat, but the following day I always had a ravenous appetite. Meal tickets were issued to the workmen when the meals were ready, and we could get nothing to eat without a ticket. The day after I was sick I went to the time-keeper who gave out meal tickets, and asked him for one. He looked over a list of those who worked the day previous and said : 'You didn't work yesterday?' 'No, I was sick.' Well,' said he, 'we feed none here but those who work get out of here and go to work and we'll feed you."

"I was unable to work and had to go to the thickets and get some fruit to stay my hunger until I could re-cuperate enough to go to work. I worked 22$daysand had done $11 90 worth of station work. One day when I was unable to put in a full day I went to the time-keeper and asked him how I stood, when he told me that my passage unable to put in a full day I went to the time-keeper and asked him how I stood, when he told me that my passage was $13.50, that my board was $1.50 per week, and that I was indebted to the company $1.50. I told him I thought he was mistaken, and asked him for an temized statement. He said: 'I will give you an itemized statement. He said: 'I will give you an itemized statement. Then turning to a drawer he took out a pistol, and presenting it at me said: 'I will give you an itemized account with this.'

"I soon afterward, in company with six others, procured a small sailboat, and in the night we escaped and made our way to Belize, British Honduras; thence we were sent home in the same ship whe went over in. Of the 150 who went over with me, there were not more than ninety left when I escaped. For a time they died at the rate of seven or eight a day. Two companions of mine died, and were stripped of their clothing and buried without coffins. Within an hour I saw their clothing in the commissary for saic, and saw it sold on account to some of the men. Men who were mashe to work, but not sick in bed, were forced by soldiers to go to work, and when on the road if they refused to work they were arrested on some trivial charge and placed in stocks. Few Americans were put in the stocks, but the Germans to the ten thus punished.
"A number of the men attempted to escape but the soldiers arrested them and brought them back, heavy fines being put against them in every instance. Some of the men appealed to the American Consul at Livingston, about nine miles from where we were at work. He said that he could do nothing for us. The Consul at British Honduras heard of our condition, and in company with some ladies came over to see for himself. Afterward he reported the mater and the United consail at British Honduras heard of our condition, am in company with some ladies came over to see for him self. Afterward he reported the matter and the Unites States man-of-war Swadara went over and brought the Americans away. My feet have been swellen ever since I worked in the rain hast fall, and I don't think I ever shall regain my health. I didn't get a dime or a stitch of clothing for my work."

MAYOR HARRISON'S BLOOD BAD.

QUARREL WITH THE CHICAGO ALDERMEN-APPLE-TON WANTED, [BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]

CHICAGO, May 25 .- The hiding place of Alderman Appleton, who disappeared with the election re-turns from the Third Ward has not yet been ascertained. though it was rumored at the City Hall to-day that he had quietly returned to the city, but that the return had been stolen from him, and had been destroyed. The delay in making the canvass and the certain evidences of fraud which have been disclosed, have created some public excitement, and Mayor Harrison has exhibited a desire to quiet this, if possible, and in doing so, had come in conflict with his friends, the "gang." "! aven't an idea what the Council will do about accept Ing the returns," said Mr. Harrison, to-lay. "As for Appleton, I don't know whether he is at the Hot Springs, or not; nor in fact, that he left Chicago. I know this, though, I'm sick and tired of this thing, and want to have it settled. My blood is out of order, and I want to go to the Hot Springs myself to recuperate. I should have gone long since were it not for this complication. I don't believe that Appleton went to Arkansas. A dispatch from there to day stated that Alderman Hildreth and wife were registered at the Springs. If Appleton were there, the fact would have been mentioned. I would not be very much surprised to see Alderman Appleton put in an appearance at the Conneil meeting this evening."

"If he does not show up, what will be done!" was asked.

"The only thing that can be done, that I know of, is to resolve to seat all the officers elected by majorities so large that they cannot be affected by the returns from to resolve to scal all the officers elected by majorities so large that they cannot be affected by the returns from the third precinct of the Third ward. That would bring the Isane down to Neumeister and Flantz, the candidates for City Clerk. If the council took this action, it would give Plantz an opportunity of going into the Courts, and the matter would be removed from the Courts, and the matter would be removed from the Courts, and the situation as it is at present, mandamus proceedings would be of no avail. If Appleton is not in his place to-night, I believe resolutions with this in view will be introduced. For my part, I am desirous of accing the affair settled."

ATTACKING COMMUNISTS.

POLICE TRYING TO CAPTURE A RED FLAG. TWO ACCOUNTS OF THE DEMONSTRATIONS IN PERE-LA-CHAISE CEMETERY.

LONDON, May 25 .- The following dispatch rom Paris gives an account of the demonstration of the Communists to-day : "There was another serious fight to-day between police and the Anarchists. A large party of the latter went to Perc-la-Chaise Cemetery to inter the body of a revolutionist, one Cournet. They entered the cemetery quietly but became excited by violent orations delivered over out from the cemetery with a red flag flying, and the police made a rush to capture the flag. A desperate fight ensued in which knives were freely used. Several permunists, which is a continuation of yesterday's auni-versary celebration of the fall of the Commune, has been orderly. The Government withdrew the troops and allowed the processionists to march into the Pere-la Chaise Cemetery with red flags. The police also left the Communists to themselves. Henri Rochefort the Communists to themselves. Henri Rochefort was halled by the paraders with shouts of "Vive la Commune." The policy of the authorities in simply ignoring the demonstration is praised. The Communists, not being opposed, vented their enthusiasm and alleged bloodthirstiness in harmless shouts. They say, however, that they overawed the authorities, and boast of their "victory."

POUNDMAKER ACCEPTS THE TERMS.

Saturday asternoon two men arrived here in a buggy, carrying a white flag. They turned out to be Dirty Horn, nephew of Poundmaker, and Robert Jefferson, In-dian instructor of that chief's reserve. Jefferson has been held by the Indians as a prisoner since the begin ning of the trouble. He produced a letter from Pound, uaker to the General containing treaty overtures and the two men with a couple of scouts were sent with it eral to Battleford. The two men said, while here, that tant, with 300 Indians, with whom he was on his way to Batouche when the courier arrived with informat Rier's defeat. Poundmaker was much incensed at Riel, whom he accused of misleading him.

During Saturday night the scents who had one with the two messengers returned, having wertaken the steamer thirty miles up the river. They said the General told Poundmaker's emissaries that Poundmaker and his counsellors must meet him in Bat-tleford on Tuesday with their arms, and make an unconforce will be sent to drive them from their reserves and with a few followers, and is definit.

General Middleton, came in at 9 last evening. Four hundred volunteers were with him. The Rev. Father Cochin is just in with a communication from Poundmaker, saying that he will surrender unconditionally. The Indians are thoroughly scared. There are about forty half breeds with them, and the Indians proper number nearly 2,000. When the priest gave Poundmaker Colonel Otter's letter they all laid down their arms. This was on Thursday.

they all laid down their arms. This was on Thursday, and they have already begun to move in to surrender. Victoria, N. W. T. May 18, via Calgarry May 24.—Major Steel's scouts found on their arrival here that everything had been stolen. There were only few provisions and the place was deserted. It will be guarded until the main force arrives on its way to Fort Pitt. Alarming reports are current regarding the number of Big Bear's men. There has been so much unavoidable delay in the expedition that he has had time to recruit from every tribe in the district. He declars he will make a stand at the Big Hills, between Frog Lake and Fort Pitt.

The news that a rebellious expedition has ffected a landing near fantiago de Cuba, under the command of General Idmbano Sanchez and France command of General Limbano Sanchez and Francesca Varona, and that the Spanish Governor of Juba had declared the province in a state of siege, greatly aroused the Cuban colony in this city yesterday. Sanchez has a record as a sturdy fighter in the rebellions of 1868 and 1880. He was captured, but effected an escape to this city last July. He went to Colon in October, and has since been actively preparing for the effort he has now begun. His companion, Varona, is a young man, the son of a rebel general who is now in prison in Spain. He was a prisoner with his father, but being granted a ticket-of-leave, he escaped and came to New-York. He left here with Sanchez.

ROME, May 25.—In the Sanitary Conference to-day the American delegate spoke in opposition to the principle of quarantine, stating that better measures had been adopted in America. The English and German delegates support America in desiring to abolish quarantine.

MADRID, May 25.—The Government has prohibited the inoculation of people with cholera virus pending the decision of the Board of Health.

EPIDEMICS IN PENNSYLVANIA.

DEATHS IN PLYMOUTH-VIRULENT DIPHTHERIA IN PARIS.

WILKESBARRE, Penn., May 25 .- Four more deaths occurred at Plymouth this afternoon and several new cases were reported.

Dr. Waterman, of Philadelphia, one of the physicians attached to the hospital, has resigned. The ward committees made another thorough canvass of the town this afternoon, and their report in detail was submitted to the Executive Committee at a meeting this evening. They find, practically, no change in the number of sick or in the general situation.

Pittsburgs May 25.-A dispatch to The Chronicle-Telegraph from Steubenville, Ohio., says: "The epidemic that broke out a few days ago at Paris, Penn., is Trux, who has already lost two, is sick and not expected to live, as is also his step-daughter, Miss Gardner. Kennedy Trux, who lost five children and whose wife is a raving maniac, is in a whose wife is a raving manae, is in a critical condition. The disease has also broken out at Hanlin's Station, on the Pan Handle Railroad, where several cases are reported. A physician from Bellevae Hospital, New-York, was at Paris to-day and held a consultation with Dr. Hill and other physicians in this city mis afternoon. He pronounced the disease black-tongue diphtheria of the most violent form. Fears are entertained that the towns in the neighborhood will become infected. Sanitary measures are being adopted at all the neighboring towns."

TARRED AND FEATHERED.

A REPORTER OF A TOLEDO PAPER DECORATED FOR TELLING TOO MUCH.

[BY THEBORAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]

Toledo, May 25 .- The good people of Norwalk, a city of 12,000 souls, on the Lake Shore Railroad, were startled this foreneon by several of the prominent residents administering a cost of tar and feathers to a reporter of The Toledo Sunday Democrat in consequence of a scandalous article reflecting upon their characters, published in The Democrat on May 17. The article was an arraignment of Norwalks' best society, and excited general indignation. Last night Roy S. Hathaway, the eral hundred papers and loudly boasted that he was the the same time flourishing a revolver and a "billy."

W. H. Peters seized Hathaway in the St. Charles Hotel flice and took him to a barn in the rear, where he was bound hand and foot, and a thick coat of tar and feathhis body, face and head, and he was further ornamented with a placard bearing the words: "Compliments of the Peck-a-boo Club." He was ordered to leave town on that if he was ever seen in Norwalk he would be lynched. Hathaway reached this city this afternoon nearly dead. He will lose the sight of both eyes. No sympathy is best people in this part fof the State. Hathaway a light mustache, and wearing glasses, sat down yester-day at 2 o'clock on one of the seats in City Hall Park. He looked extremely sad, and it appeared to be hard work for him to keep still for any length of time. At last he got up, crossed the roadway and ascended the steps leading to the City Hall. He looked at the entrance a moment, then pressed his head with his hands as if suffering from pain, and then, having apparently come te a decisiou, he descended the steps and crossed hurriedly to the Bridge entrance. He paid a centand walked along on the promenade until about 150 feet beyond the New-York tower. It was now a quarters to four and the great highway was well sprinkled with pedestrians, while both carriageways were filled with vehicles. The man stopped a moment and looked cautiously around. Having up the trusses, walked over the planks used by men who attend to the electric lamps, and went down by an Iron ladder to the north carriageway. He took off his coast and waistcoat with perfect self-possession, arranged them neatly over each other, and was about climbing the Patrolman Buckridge saw the man but was too far

If he had been five seconds later the man would have been dead in the water below. The policeman reached him just as he was on the point of leaping into the river. The people on the promenade had begun to gather together at the unusual sight; travel on the carriageway was stopped, and a cry, partly of disap-pointment, broke from some of the people, for they thought a rival to Odlum had been folled. The man was taken to the York-st. Pelice Station in Brooklyn. He gave his name as Gustave Fleischer, carpenter, age thirty-five, living at No. 219 East Seventy-third-st., Now-York. Although he has been a year and a half in this country, he can speak only German. When he was explaining his attempt at self-destruction he cried frequently. He said a contractor named Muxlow, for whom he worked, owed him more than twenty dollars, which he tried in vain to recover.

I am now so feeble and down-hearted that I do no more I am now so feeble and down-hearted that I do no more know what to do. You know how dear those children are to my heart, and it pains me so much that I cannot go home any more. Then their inquiries: "Papa! have you got money? Did you obtain work!"—have driven me to desperation to commit suicide for I do not know what to de. No work! no money! If the things pawned, and you, dear wife, sick and feeble, I cannot pay the groeer, and he will not trust any more. Now I stand here as a lost man, a begar, a tramp. I cannot go; I durat not steal, and no workgiver seems to have pity upon me. I leave my coat, my wallet, and my portmonnate. Dear wife, do not ask where I have committed the suicide. I remain in heaven thy dearly beloved husband,

NO REASON KNOWN.

Nellie Canfield, age seventeen, a pupil in Mrs. De Witt's seminary at Belleville, N. J., shot herself with revolver vesterday morning. The ball penetrated the who was called in at once pronounced the wound mortal. Miss Canfield's mind had been affected by sickness, but yesterday she appeared quite rational. She was helped from her bed by her nurse and partook of some breakfast. While eating she requested the nurse to get an article in another room. The nurse obeyed and was returning to the chamber when she heard the report of a pistol and reached the door in time to see the weapon fall from the patient's hand. Dr. Skinner, of Belleville, who was immediately sent for, found that the ball remained imbedded in the soft flesh near the heart. He did not attempt to probe for it. Miss Caufield became a pupil at the seminary three nonthis ago. She was brought here by her mother, a widow living in Washington. She had just recovered from a severe attack of spinal meningitis and was in delicate health. The girl was studious and was mach liked. Two weeks ago she became troubled with a running car which made her ill and confined acr to har room. She suffered much and her mind became greatly affected. The physician who attended her said that her previous sickness had un lermined her constitution and left her too weak to witnstand the last attack of lilness.

Mrs. De Witt could not understand how the girl obtained the revolver. She said yesterday: 'It is all a mystery to me how it came in her possession. Owing to her delicate health she has never been permitted to go out without an attendant. There are several revolvers in the house but they are kept in my own rooms. Miss Canfield may have got one of them and concealed it, but how she got if I cannot imagine."

A telegram was sent to the mother of the girl telling her to come on at once, stating that her danghier was very low but giving no information about the shooting Or. Skinner thought it his duty to inform the County Physician in order that the aute-mortem statement of the girl might be taken.

Dr. Hewlitt, the county physician, visited Belleville. widow living in Washington. She had just recovered
